
„Testamentowa” „teoria” sprawiedliwości

Autor: Piotr Bartuła

Artykuł opublikowany w „Annales. Etyka w życiu gospodarczym” 2009, vol. 12, nr 2, s. 197

Archidiecezjalne Wydawnictwo Łódzkie

Stable URL: http://www.annalesonline.uni.lodz.pl/archiwum/2009/2009_02_bartula_197.pdf

The 'Testamentary' Theory of Justice

Author: Piotr Bartuła

Source: 'Annales. Ethics in Economic Life' 2009, vol. 12, nr 2, pp. 197

Published by Lodz Archdiocesan Press

Stable URL: http://www.annalesonline.uni.lodz.pl/archiwum/2009/2009_02_bartula_197.pdf

© Copyright by Uniwersytet Łódzki, Łódź 2009

© Copyright by Piotr Bartuła

Piotr Bartula

Uniwersytet Jagielloński, Kraków

e-mail: piobartula@gmail.com

The ‘Testamentary’ Theory of Justice

Important problems of justice are raised by a project according to which the sovereign gives to victims the right to pardon a wrongdoer orally or in a testament. The author supports such an individualization of the right to pardon, which would turn the state into a contractor who is hired by citizens exclusively to guarantee them security and self-possession.

Key words: justice, right to pardon